Living a Meaningful Life without Purpose by Gershon Winkler

Listen. What is it your business what purpose God, or Intelligent Design, or Darwin had in mind when the idea of you came up? What makes you think that your right to life hangs on some kind of particular task, and that you were specifically hired to perform it? Purpose is overrated. You will never know your purpose for being here. But while you are here, there's loads of meaning to be discovered.

The Judeo-Christian Fiction by Gershon Winkler

The commonly-used cliché “Judeo-Christian” is in all truth an oxymoron. Any similarities between the two exist solely because Christianity borrowed extensively from the earlier Scriptures and wisdom traditions of Judaism. To then claim commonality is akin to my relieving you of one of your custom-made designer shirts and then declaring that we have the same taste in clothes. Just because Custer wore buckskin, in other words, it didn't make him any more a Native American than he wasn't already. The Judeo-Christian Fiction is a candid no-holds-barred exploration of commonly held assumptions and attitudes in regard to Jews and Judaism as maliciously propagated by the religious scriptures, doctrines and creeds of two major world religions for close to 2,000 years. And counting...
